The CBF was £5999 when launched in 2006 and only rose in late 2009 when all bike prices leapt up due to the weak pound. It's good value as a used buy too. The cheapest examples are early, high mileage bikes in private sales and these can be had for a little under £3000. £3500 gets a pretty decent early bike in a private sale or a higher mile example from a dealer.

The CBF is a very reliable bike due to its relatively low state of tune, however there is one major issue it suffers from. The wiring loom earths against the frame on the left hand side of the bike, just below the petrol tank. This area can trap water, causing the loom to corrode and short out.
